

RSU Global!

March 2026

www.ilc.rsu.ac.th □ ISSUE 005

As January begins, RSU Global continues to develop into a community where students feel welcomed, supported, and motivated to learn together. What truly defines our community is not just the programs we organize, but the people behind them and those who actively participate.

As the Student Commissioner of RSU Global, I am grateful to work alongside such a committed team. Our Head Team Leaders demonstrate strong responsibility and clear communication, ensuring our mentoring programs run effectively.

I sincerely appreciate our mentors for their time, dedication, and support. Through your guidance, students build confidence, strengthen communication skills, and grow both academically and personally.

Together, we have created a respectful and supportive environment where students feel comfortable learning and sharing ideas. This month's newsletter highlights our ongoing progress, and I look forward to continuing this journey and making the semester meaningful for everyone.

We remain dedicated to improving our mentoring initiatives and expanding opportunities for student growth. Let us continue supporting one another with positivity, teamwork, and a shared purpose. I am confident we will achieve even greater success in the months ahead.

RIC PEER MENTOR OF THE MONTH

A peer mentor is a fellow student who supports and guides others, helping them adjust to university life and play an important role in student development.

Peer mentors support students both academically and emotionally. They offer study tips, language practice, and useful resources while providing encouragement that builds confidence. They also assist new students during orientation and help create a friendly, welcoming environment. Their presence helps students feel less overwhelmed during their transition. They bridge the gap between students and teachers, helping learners feel more connected, motivated, and supported. Through their guidance, they promote teamwork, collaboration, and a positive learning culture within the Language Center.

Looking ahead, the goal is to expand the number of peer mentors throughout the semester to strengthen the community and provide more personalized support. Each month, one peer mentor is recognized for their dedication and positive impact. We truly appreciate their hard work, which continues to inspire both students and staff.

CULTURE CORNER

The Tabaung Festival is a traditional celebration in Myanmar held during the full moon of Tabaung, the final month of the Burmese calendar (usually in March). It is a significant religious and cultural event where people visit pagodas, offer food, and participate in merit-making activities.

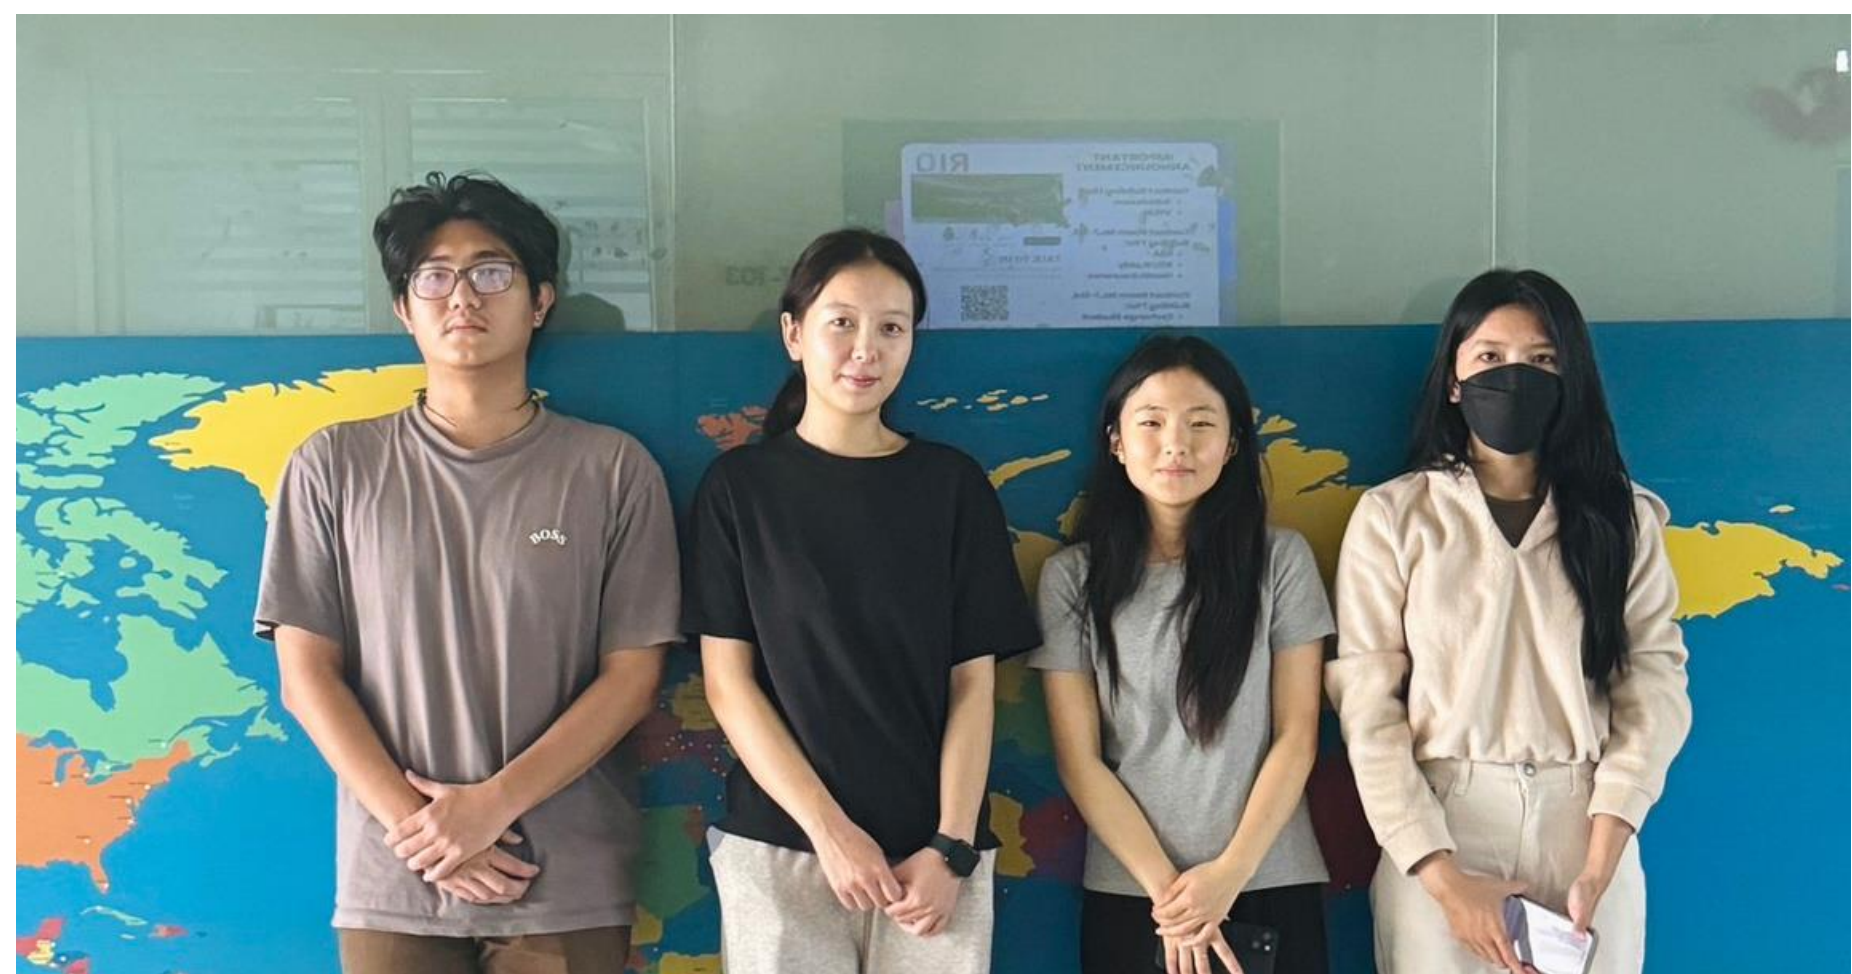

One of the most well-known celebrations takes place at the Shwedagon Pagoda, where thousands gather for prayers, candlelight processions, and festive markets. People also prepare traditional foods, such as sticky rice and sesame treats, and share them with family, friends, and visitors.

The festival symbolizes generosity, community spirit, and spiritual devotion, bringing people together to celebrate faith and cultural traditions. Many communities also host traditional performances and local fairs during this time. Pilgrims often travel long distances to take part in the celebrations and pay their respects. The atmosphere is lively and meaningful, filled with both joy and reflection.

UPCOMING PEER MENTOR TRAINING MODULES BY OUR PRODEV TEAM:

Professional Communication For Global Mentors

This training module helps mentors understand how different uses of English influence communication and mentoring. It focuses on listening skills and effective interaction across diverse language backgrounds, encouraging an open mind and respect for individual identities. For peer mentors, language awareness goes beyond correct grammar—it involves listening without judgment and valuing how others express themselves. Through discussions and reflection, mentors become more empathetic and open, helping build trust, strengthen teamwork, and support RSU Global's goal of intercultural understanding.

Collaborative Projects Design and Innovation

This module introduces a mentoring approach where mentors and mentees collaborate on meaningful projects. It emphasizes teamwork, creativity, and shared learning.

Through collaboration, mentees gain motivation and confidence, while mentors develop supportive leadership skills. This approach promotes learning through real experiences, continuous improvement, and creative thinking. As a result, both mentors and mentees grow together, building leadership, responsibility, and essential skills for future careers.

Research Projects Planned:

Dr. Edward's Research Factory

During the March academic period, a research study titled “Intercultural Engagement through Peer-Assisted Learning: Thai Students' Experiences in Applied Digital and Service Disciplines” is being conducted. This study examines how Peer-Assisted Learning (PAL) supports intercultural engagement among Thai undergraduate students in applied digital and service-oriented fields.

Through the lens of collaborative learning environments, the research explores how students from diverse cultural backgrounds interact, exchange ideas, and support one another academically. Particular attention is given to how PAL creates opportunities for students to share perspectives, strengthening communication skills and fostering meaningful cross-cultural interactions.

The study highlights that Peer-Assisted Learning not only enhances academic collaboration but also plays a key role in developing cultural awareness and adaptability. By engaging in structured peer learning activities, students gain valuable exposure to different viewpoints, preparing them for dynamic and culturally diverse professional environments.

This research paper is scheduled to be presented at the upcoming RSU Conference, contributing important insights into the role of innovative learning strategies in promoting intercultural engagement across applied digital and service disciplines.
